Robert F. Morrow's Embracery Case Begun in Santa Rosa.

Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press. SANTA ROSA, January 31st .- This morning when the Morrow embracery case was called before Judge Rutledge, of Departnent One, Superior Court, the greatest ar ray of leading lawyers of the State were assembled in the Court room since the close of the celebrated case of Ellen M. Colon vs. Leland Stanford and others, which was tried in this city three years ago. Robert F. Morrow, with his counsel, Hall

McAllister, Barclay Henley and T. J. Geary, sat at the south end of the lawyers' desk, while Attorney-General G. A. Johnson, George R. B. Hayes and District Attorney Pearce, attorneys for the prosecution, occupied the north end. The Courtroom was well filled with jurors and spectators. When Judge Rutledge announced the case of the People against Robert F. Morrow, the clerk ran over the list of inverse submessed level. list of jurors subpensed, and all but a half a dozen responded to their names. The work of impaneling a jury was then complain the facts of the case.

If we know all the methods of approach adopted by an enemy we are the better enabled to ward off the danger and postpone the moment when surrender becomes inevitable. In many instances the inherent strength of the body suffices to enable it to oppose the tendency toward death. Many, however, have lost these forces to such an extent that there is little or no help. In other cases a little aid to the weakened lungs will make all the difference between sudden death and many years of useful life. Upon the first symptoms of a cough old or any trouble of the throat or lungs, give that old and well-known remedy Boschee's German Syrup—a careful trial. It will prove what thousands say of it to be, the "benefactor of any home."

The growing importance of fruit culture, oth in Oregon and California, calls for the mihilation of the codlin moth, that dread ague of the orchard. Some claim the aly safe and sure way to rid the orchard f this pest is to dig up the trees and burn nem when found to be affected. This nethod will not strike the average orchard-st with favor. In New Zealand they have liseovered that Dame Nature has provided death-trap in the physianthus. American apples are prohibited by municipal en-actment entrance to the Auckland market. This enactment is reasonable and the cause sufficient, yet the effect is not, for in portions of this isle of the sea many of the rchards are of little value because of the uin wrought by the codlin moth. Attenion is being called to a new and novel node of destroying this insect, which is nothng more nor less than a flowering climber, which bears an abundance of sweet-scented oney-ladened and beautiful flowers. It is claimed for the physianthus that it does no damage to the tree to plant it near the root, train it up the trunk and through the branches. T. F. Cheeseman, Superintendnt of the Auckland Museum, has some of hese flowers on exhibition which contain uite a number of dead moths. It is stated that in the district where these flowers grow, during the whole of last summer he flowers at that place were loaded with dead moths. It is plain that this flower is supplied by nature as a prison and deathtrap for this insect. The physianthus is a native of South America, and it is thought it will thrive well here, especially in Cali-

On examining they discovered a cave which they explored some distance, but it was so dark they could not see to walk. So, on the following day, after supplying themselves with candles, they penetrated the lower re-gions two miles or more, at a descent of about four inches to the rod. The roof seems to be of solid lava. The floor is yel-low sand, and about one mile from the entrance there is a large room, ten or twelve feet high and sixty feet across, and the main cavern turns and runs in a northerly direction, and another runs east or nearly so. The north extension has a temperature of about ninety degrees, and grows warmer at every step, and the descent grows steeper as far as it has been explored. As the candle grew short, the explorers were compelled to return to the outer world and leave the wonderful cavern un-

There is to be made no successful denial of this charge. The sectional crystallization at the South, commonly designated at "solid," is wholly Democratic, and feeds upon a past preju-

The party, therefore, has its national power not because of great principles passed upon by the people in its favor, but because of tradition on one hand and the rule of a corrupt city on the other, and from which we conclude there will be no immediate relief. Precisely; it is the politics of the bedfellow rather than the character whenever the Democratic party goes into "bundling." Washington Territory, with her feet in the Washington Territory, with her feet in the northern snows, is welcomed by the party because the probabilities are that in a hot contest the Territory would go Democratic. But Dakota, with her blizzard-bitten toes adheres to the faith of the party of progress, and hence the Democratic House has no compassion upon her, and refuses the Territory permission to thaw out at Uncle Sam's fireside; the allegorical character of all this is inelegant and rather rough, but strikingly illustrative of the rough but strikingly illustrative of the rough but strikingly illustrative of the rough of the rough of the rough of the rough but strikingly illustrative of the rough of the rough of the rough of the rough but strikingly illustrative of the rough of the state to make their future home.

Reception of the Citizens of Sacramento of California from a large number of the Eastern States. We have eleft our firesides in New England, our homes by the Gulf, along the Allantic shores, the cotton fields of the South, the prairies of the great valley of the Mississippi, our farms by the great lakes, left behind us the blizzard of the North, the balmy breezes of the Gulf of Mexico, to come to your coast and inspect for ourselves your great, your wonderful, your glorious fruit-growing country, California. [Applause.] Everywhere we have been met with a welcome which has deeply impressed us. [Applause.] Everywhere we have been met with a welcome which has deeply impressed us. [Applause.] Everywhere we have been met with a welcome which has deeply impressed us. [Applause.] Everywhere we have been met with a welcome which has been one continuous ovation. Wherever we have stopped at a railway station, for even the brief space of one hour we have been met by organized committees of brave men and fair women, with words of welcome and donations of fruit and flowers from that cornucopia which seems to be dead it has clasped.

No orphan among them, each Nature's own child.

It was then that some who found time to think of something else besides digging for gold," concluded to test the productive qualities of some of the river bottom lands, and here and there small lots were seeded to barley, which gave an enormous yield seeded to barley, which gave an enormous yield the seeded to barley, which gave an enormous yield the seeded to barley, which gave an enormous yield the seeded to barley, which gave an enormous yield the seeded to barley, which gave an enormous yield the seeded to barley, which gave an enormous yield the seeded to barley, which gave an enormous yield the seeded to barley. The seeding the seeded to barley with us the beauty of the soil, the soil that the soil seeded to barley, which gave an enormous yield per acre and of superior quality. The seeding of large tracts followed, and the supply became greater than the demand and cousequently low and unrenaunerative prices ruled. In the meantime, however, experiments had been made in growing wheat, and it was demonstrated that the soil in California not only produced a heavy yield, but also in quality, wheat equal, if not superior, to any grown in the world. It was then that California began to be an agricultural, as well as mineral producing State, and it was not long before California produced millions of bushels of wheat for export, which found ready and profitable markets in foreign countries. During this time experiments had also been made in the growing the superior than the demand and cousequently low and unrenaunerative prices ruled. The next speaker was Mr. Homer of Ohio. He heartily indorsed all the remarks of Mr. Earl and returned thanks to the citizens of Sacramento for the brilliant reception.

E. W. Maslin, Secretary of the State Board of Equalization, made a short speech, which was highly enjoyed by the Eastern horticulturists, from the fact that it was full of statistical facts and information. He gave a brief history of the Sacramento valley, its climate, its fruits, soil, irrigation, through the fact that we are exempt from rain during the fruit season, or at least that portion of it when fruit is being dried, and the sun's rays are used for that purpose. The treatment of fruit in sun-drying is the same as that in machine drying, except that in one case the heat of the sun is utilized, and in the other, artificial heat is used, while in price the machine-dried has but little advantage over the sun-dried.

electricity by Martin Steinmitz, the gentleman in charge of that department. The State Library was tastefully decorated with flowers, evergreens and bunting, and set apart as a cloak and waiting room. The Assembly Chamber, which undoubtedly is the finest hall in the State, had been cleared of all the desks and handsomely and looked upon as anything on a very grand cleared of all the desks and handsomely decorated. It had the appearance of an immense dining-room, there being 50 tables covered with snow-white linen, fancy china and silverware and pileton for the future of this Golden State. the mense dining-room, there being 50 tables covered with snow-white linen, fancy china and silverware, and plates for six at each table. The orchestra under the leadership of Professor Hand. consisting of eight pieces, rendered music equal to any ever heard in this city, and was not the least of the attractions of the evening.

At 8:30 r. m. the guests marched into the hall led by Mayor Eugene Gregory and P. E. Platt. They were seated at the tables and soon lifty gentlemen of the part of waiters, were supplying them with sandwiches and coffee and choice edibles without stint and in the greatest variety. The caterer of the evening was W. F. Peterson. For nearly an hour there was eating, acquaintance making and a genuine run of fun and good humor, a score or more of Sacramento's ladies—wives and relatives of the visiting horticulturists—accompanied the latter.

Mayor Gregory called the assemblage to order after all had partaken of lunch. He delivered a short address of welcome to the guesis, after which he introduced the Chairman of the evening, Hon. R. D. Stephens. In assuming the duties of the Chair, Mr. Stephens said:

Ladies and Gentlemen: I thank you for the honor it has been your pleasure to confer upon me by selectlag me as your presiding officer upon so important an occasion as this—the recention and entertainment. They came with a view of sojourning but a short time, in which they proposed to make their fortunes and then "go back to the States," to the scenes of their childhood, to e-joy their gains. As to industrial pursuits there were at that time but about three legicimate interests in which to embark. These were, first, mining; second, mercantile; and third, the transportation of supplies into the mining districts. speaker gave a glowing description of the third, the transportation of supplies into the mining districts.

In those days vegetables were unknown, except the variety named potatoes, and that existed only to a very limited degree, and when found commanded per pound one doltar and upwards.

It was soon found, however, that the very best vegetables, and melons of all varieties, could be grown, almost without effort, which feet was hailed with great joy by those who were splanning here. The historian, Professor John Clark Redpath, LL, D., of the De Panw University in speaking of the civilization of the east ern world, and that of the valley of the Nile in particular, said the latter was like its pyramids, pointed and soon run out. Ours had its beginning there, but we hope the foundations laid here are broader and deeper, and trust they may prove more enduring than those of that land where bistory and civilization had its beginning. You people of California have been specially favored, enjoying, as you do, advantages claimed by but few other people on the globe. Why should I people you not then become a great people in the ciences, in art and literature, and in the products of the soil. You are now the possessors of the greatest astronomical observatory in the world. The foundations have already been laid within your borders for an educational institution second to none, and here in your own beloved Cali-fornia it is only necessary to touch the soil and the earth yields all that heart could ask for. Professor Redpath's glowing tribute to California was loudly applauded. A VOICE FROM NAPA. Hon. M. M. Estee, of Napa, upon being ntroduced said that several Sacramentans van's fight with Mitchell will come off seems doubtful. Each side accuses the other of not wishing a fair fight. Ugly rumors, say one of the chief sporting papers, are in circulation respecting what is going to be done. This authority, which is nostile to Sullivan, recommends that both principles drop personalities and proceed to business. No day is yet fixed for the ight. "Either side," says the same journal, could easily get out of the business altogether." That is rather an omnious suggestion to come from the Mitchell party. Nobody doubts that Sullivan wants to fight Mitchell. It was one of his main objects in coming to England. Mitchell's anxiety to meet the great American is perhaps less keen. Sporting men of high posi-tion say it is a hundred to one on Sullivan if he keeps his temper and does not follow Mitchell around the ring. Mitchell is as active as a cat. He will not face Sullivan

People Charged by the Police for Merely Gathering on the Street. Dublin, January 31st .- The trial of Cox, Member of Parliament for East Clare, on a charge of violating the Crimes Act, by addressing tenants at Kildysart, was begun to-day at that place. The people of Kildy-sart and the surrounding neighborhood gathered this morning, and, headed by priests, marched to the Court-house. They were charged by the police, who used their atons freely and succeeded in clearing the streets. Many people were injured. The people collected again and finally the po-lice decided to allow them to remain. The ourt-room was filled with priests.

A HEROINE.

Appreciation of the Noble Act of a Nebraska School Teacher. During the blizzard of the 12th inst. in Nebraska, Miss Minnie Freeman, a young school teacher about eighteen years of age, was in the frame school-house of the Myra Valley district with thirteen pupils, ranging in age from six to fifteen years. Before he teacher could realize that a blizzard had swept down from the north, the doors of the school-house were torn from their hinges and blown away. Another strong gust almost immediately afterward lifted the roof and carried it far into the prairie. The time for prompt action had arrived, and the plucky teacher was equal to the emergency. She gathered her pupils to-gether, began with the largest one and tied them all together by the arms, three Taking the youngest in her arms,

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET.

SAN FRANCISCO HARRET.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 31st.
FLOUR—Business is of fairly brisk character. We quote: Net cash prices for California: Best Family, $4@4 10: Bakers' extra, $4@4 10 pth.
bbl: superfine, $2 80@3 25 pth.
WHEAT—The market shows no very active symptoms. Moist weather doubtless influence to some extent the movements of operators. With no pressing demand from abroad, shippers are less inclined to purchase for export purposes very freely in the face of a good and general rain-storm Such incidental stend to weaken the situation at almost any time, and the prospect for a decline in quotations, under present surroundings, is more probable when the inquiry is light than when it is brisk and active. There is fairly liberal array of offerings, but there is no large quantity of really choice product. Most of the samples submitted are of medium and off-grade qualities. Whatever demand may exist, calls for a first-class article. Quicker sale is found for the more choice off-rings; then aparthing electrics. quanties. Whatever demand may exist, calls for a first-class article. Quicker sale is found for the more choice offerings than anything else. Transactions are negotiated on a basis of $1.35 pctl for standard quality.

BARLEY—With continued rain its is hardly possible for feed descriptions to show any strength. The top of the market in this line is $800 pctl. with no inclination to purchase aboard strength. The top of the market in this line is 50c $\pi$ ctl, with no inclination to purchase ahead. Holders do not believe that prices can go any lower, and are therefore reconciled to slow trade at the moment, in the hope that a change in their favor will occur in due season. Brew-ling is in fairly good request. Dealers have promptly met the Eastern demand without at-tempting to advance prices and such action has promptly met the Eastern demand without attempting to advance prices, and such action has been of good service in helping to relieve the market of rather heavy surplus. A considerable amount has been bought, and freight engaged for the same on several successive Panama steamers. Much stock has been sent overland. The idea is to get as much Brewing Barley in New York as possible in time for the malting season. There has been some movement in Chevalier of late. Some second-grade lots have been taken for the Colonies, and it is understood that round lots of standard are secured on English account. If report be true, higher prices than we quote have been paid for the better article. Figures are given as high as $1.30 and even at $1.32\frac{1}{2}$ is hinted at. It should be understood that there are one or two growers so and even at $1 32½ is hinted at. It should be understood that there are one or two growers who take more than usual pride in harvesting their crops. The grain is sieved and cleaned so thoroughly as to render it more than usually attractive. Such an article ought to command a comparatively fancy price. All demands are about satisfied now, and the market has easier one. We quote as follows: Feed. 771/6810: it to good bay, $1@1 17/2; fair to good coast, @85c 3 ctl.

OATS—Trade is of rather dragging nature as uyers will take no more than will meet their ressing necessities. Supplies are more than lentiful, but stocks remain under good control, and holders are apparently in coast text.

nd holders are apparently in earnest in their etermination not to force business. Values, owever, are less firm.
